

The Python

The python has a pair of jaws
Their limit God alone knows
When he opens his mouth
They stretch from north to south
And can swallow an entire house
Some of his victims thrive
In his belly alive
If ever swallowed by a python
Kick his kidneys, fight on, fight on...

G. E. Gorfu

Photo by an Australian farmer who put up an electric fence after noticing his sheep were disappearing without a trace.

